Vol. IX, No. 34. The County Seat Paper NEVADA CITY, CALIFORNIA The GOLD Center FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1935

Fifty Pct. Basis for Assessed Valuations

Under the new tax rulings and enactments the State Board of Equalization insists that all property throughout the state be assessed at 50 per cent valuation. This means that Nevada County, according to County Assessor J. M. Hammill, will have to raise its assessed values to that level. The public utilities which will now pay their taxes into the county instead of the state, will be assessed throughout the state by the State Board of Equalization on a 50 per cent basis and the tax roll will be turned over to Nevada County for collection.

The effect of putting all assessed values in the state upon a 50 per cent valuation basis, will be to afford a uniform condition under which county and city governmental costs can be compared. Heretofore a vast condition of confusion has obtained because of the varying assessed valuations in different counties. One county with a low assessed valuation would have a high tax rate, another with a high valuation would have a low tax rate, and it was difficult for investors in real estate, for instance, to compare governmental costs, and the relative merits of real property investments, in one county as compared with another.

County Assessor Hammill, estimates that with the inclusion of the public utilities in the tax roll and the general advance in assessment valuation of about 10 per cent, the county assessment will total approximately $10,000,000 as against an approximate $6,000,000 in the last few years.

This does not mean, Hammill states, that any property owner will pay more taxes than now. In fact he expects that there will be a material reduction in the amount most property owners will pay. The basic rate last year, for instance was $2.20 per $100 assessed valuation. That rate will be cut substantially this year. Just how much, Mr. Hammill is not yet ready to say, but it will be considerable.

It has been proposed in the city council to reassess Nevada City property and bring it up to the same basis as the county assessment, and it reported that a great many tax payers would be glad if this were done. Grass Valley already has a 50 per cent valuation basis, and a tay rate of $1.25 as compared with Nevada City's tax rate of $1.90. It does not mean that anyone would pay more taxes, for the lower rate would offset the increase in assessed valuation.

IN MEMORY OF SHEBLY HUCKINS

(By Katherine Braithwaite)

President McKinley, in a memorable address at the Trans-Mississippi Exposition, said:

"On the 25th of April, (1898) for the first time for more than a generation the United States sounded the call to arms. The banners of war were unfurled; the best and bravest from every section responded; a mighty army was enrolled; the North and the South vied with each other in patriotic devotion science was invoked to furnish its most effective weapons; factories were rushed to supply equipments the youth and the veteran joined in freely offering their services to their country; volunteers and regulars and all the people rallied to the support of the republic. There was no break in the line, no halt in the march, no fear in the heart; no resistance to the patriotic spirit of the troops fighting in distant waters or on foreign shore . . . "

SHELBY HUCKINS VOLUNTEERED

And among those volunteer soldiers who marched so bravely away to war was Shelby H. Huckins of North San Juan, but just plain "Shad" to all the folks on the Ridge. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American War, Shad Huckins was one of the first to fall in line in Company I of Grass Valley, of the 8th Infantry. And it was while he was so bravely fulfilling his service in the army that he contracted an illness from which was to be the direct cause of his death last week.

As a boy he tramped and hunted up and down the grassy slopes of the foothills or dreamed and fished under the whispering evergreens along the Ridge. And here, too, he later married and established a home, and became a well known and beloved citizen. During his almost life-long residence on the Ridge he has made numerous friends who sincerely mourn his untimely death.

McKINLEY'S EULOGY

President McKinley said:

"The heroes of Manila and Santiago and Porto Rico have made immortal history. They are worthy successors and descendants of Washington and Greene, of Paul Jones, Decatur and Hull, and of Grant, Sherman, Sheridan and Logan, of Farragut, Porter and Cushing, and of Lee, Jackson and Longstreet.

"New names stand out on the honor roll of the nation's greatness, and with them unnamed stand the heroes of the trenches and the forecastle, invincible, loyal, indomitable soldier and sailor and marine, regular and volunteer, are entitled to equal praise as having done their whole duty, whether at home or under the baptism of foreign fire.

"The men who endured in the short but decisive struggle its hardships, its privations, whether in the field or camp, on ship or in siege, and planned and achieved its victories—won a peace whose great gain to civilization is yet unknown and unwritten."

NEW PATH PROPOSED TO PROSPECT HIILL

Ed. C. Uren, city engineer, has been asked by the city council to draw up plans for making a zig zag path from Sacramento street to Prospect street, to replace the old wooden stairs which now serve pedestrians. It is understood that the city owns a right-of-way sufficiently wide to provide for wide path wining up the hill and, if the plan can be carried out as a part of the SERA street project during this month, it will serve a large number of people living on Prospect Hill. The present stairs are in a dangerous condition. As all SERA work must be completed by April 1, the plan must be expedited if it is to be finished in that time limit.

CAMPTONVILLE, Feb. 28.—Word was received here a few days ago of the death of Gus Weissbaum of San Francisco following a several months of illness. Mr. Weissbaum had recently obtained a lease on Snowden Hill Mine and was expecting to do some extensive mining operations. Weissbaum was a successful business man at the bay, operating a large pipe works. A short time age, C. T. Driscoll, the main stockholder of Snowden Hill with whom the deceased executed the lease, was killed in an automobile accident near San Jose.

COLFAX SCOUT TROOP TO SEND BOY TO CAPITOL

The first application to go to the National Scout Jamboree at Washington D. C. was received this last week by Jamboree Chairman, G. W. Brundage. The applicant, Paul Burbage, was selected by the troop committee of Colfax Troop No. 25, to represent that troop. Other committees in the Council are preparing lists of Scouts for consideration of the National and local Council requirements necessary to attend. Several have already selected a delegate and three or four alternates.

Burbage is an Eagle Scout and has creditably held all the troop offices of his troop according to his Scoutmaster G. W. Ramsay.

Subject to a very strict physical examination the forunate representatives of the Tahoe troops will see and do these among other things while on the trip: meet the President of the United States, camp with 30,000 other Scouts on the Potomac River, see Great Salt Lake and the Mormon Tabernacle, visit the worlds largest department store, Marshall Fields, in Chicago, explore the Statue of Liberty, view New York City from the top of the Empire State building, inspect Independence Hall at Philadelphia, tour all the United States Government buildinds at Washington and visit Mt. Vernon. This mammoth camp will be in sight of the Washington monument and the White House.

STUDENTS ENJOY DR. KNOLES TALK 'GOLD STANDARD'

Dr. Tully C. Knoles spoke to the High School students in assembly on Tuesday morning and the applause tendered him by the students showed that they too are appreciative of the higher class of entertainment and thought provoking talks. Dr. Knoles gave a clear explanation of the "Gold Standard" to the students and no doubt they now have a better understanding of what it is all about.

He explained to the Student Body that the people of the United States had so long believed in a gold standard set by the government of the United States that they had lost sight of the fact that gold was now actually worth more than the value set upon it by the government. People have ceased to think of gold as a commodity in the same class with wheat, oats, etc., and have set it apart as a product by which to measure all other commodities.

The value of silver since 1896 has gone downward, while the value of gold since that date has increased about 50 per cent. Mr. Roosevelt saw the fallacy of holding gold to a $20 an ounce value when it might be worth more or less in actual commodity value. He called in all the gold from the people in the United States in order that gold might fluctuate and at last find its own standard of value. An executive order was issued prohibiting the hoarding of gold, and later the gold bill was passed by Congress making President Roosevelt's actions constitutional. All gold certificates were called in and could not be redeemed in gold. The gathering of all the gold into the treasury put American finance upon such a firm footing that immediately $300,000,000 in gold came into the United States' Treasury from Europe. People there preferred American paper money to gold so sure were they of its stability as long as the gold remained in the Treasury and was not dissipated among the people. In addition, the number of grains of gold in a dollar was reduced, and, therefore more gold was accumulated in the Treasury. As a result of the sound gold backing in the Treasury of the United States money, the government can borrow money paying only one tenth of one per cent per month on a short time loan of three months, and two percent per annum on a long time loan. Paper money, backed by $8,000,000,000 in the Treasury, is doing the business in the United States. Gold in this country is now on a fluctuating basis and it will be equal in value to the commodities exchanged rather than an arbitrary measure set up by the government.

Supervisors Assn. to Fight Road Transfer

DAVIS, Feb. 28.—Hitting hard at the proposal of Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly to have the state take over all county roads, the County Supervisors Association of California will place the plan under heavy fire at its convention next week in Sacramento.

This was foreshadowed in a statement today by W. O. Russell of Davis, chairman of the Legislatuve Committee of the Supervisors Association. Executive and Legislative committees of the Association met in Sacramento last Friday and Saturday and passed strong resolutions opposing Kelly's plans for centralized state control of all roads. These resolutions are expected to receive unanimous endorsement at the convention, to be held March 6, 7 and 8 at Sacramento.

"It is the general opinion among supervisors that this scheme of the state taking over all roads is nothing less than an attempt to establish a vast state political machine through a veritable dictatorship vested in the State Department of Public Works," Russell declared. "Claims about saving taxpayers $16,000,000 per biennium can not stand anaylsis. They are nothing but rubber figures stretched to make a point.

Saving By Curtailment

"The fact is that no such sum can be saved unless highway construction and improvement is severely curtailed, which certainly should not be done in these times if it can possibly be avoided. Highway work is one of the most effective means of providing employment, and there is plenty of work still to be done before the highway system is completed.

"How Kelly can save such a sum as $16,000,000 each two years he does not reveal, except by the general claim of increased efficiency on the part of the state. In reply to that claim the supervisors are able to present figures showing what state supervision with appointive officials really means as compared with work done by elective county officials.

Los Angeles Typical

"Figures for Los Angeles County are typical. The state's expenditure on maintenance per mile amounts to $629.60. Los Angeles County sucwork for -233 per mile, considerably less than one-half the state's cost. Los Angeles has one man employed for each seven miles of road, while the state has a field force on a full time basis of one man per 3.3 miles. Los Angeles County's administrative costs average $19.40 per mile, while those of the State Highway Commission average $91.25 per mile.

"It must be remembered that the state has 14,000 miles to maintain, much of it highly improved, which should cut maintenance costs. For that purpose the state has about $5,000,000 worth of equipment. The counties, on the other hand, have 65,000 miles of road, much of it of an unimproved nature, and they are maintaining these roads with about the same value of road equipment as the state.

"County supervisors are directly responsible to the people of their county and if they do not do the right thing they can be disciplined by removal from office. The Highway Commission, which is non-salaried and serves at the pleasure of the Governor, is subject to no such control.

Odium of Patronage

"Probably Mr. Kelly will claim that the supervisors are fighting his proposal because it would remove from them some of their poliaical patronage. But by what sort of political magic would the State Department of Public Works be immune to the odium of patronage? It has become so in late years that the Director of Public Works is the most powerful figure in the state administration.

"The supervisors are not going to sit back and passively permit the State Department of Public Works to acquire a dictatorial, centralized jurisdiction over local roads. They believe that those who spend funds for local roads should remain closely responsive to the wishes of the taxjayers. These are some of the reasons why the supervisors will bitterly oppose Mr. Kelly's plan.

STORM ADDS 2.70 INCHES OF RAIN

The first of March is "coming in like a lion" with a drenching rain which started falling Wednesday evening and continued all day Thursday. The rain gauge at the home of Mrs. Jennie Preston measured at 4 p. m. yesterday 2.70 inches of rain had fallen during the storm. The total for the season is 35.30 inches of rain.

Otto Lirsch in charge of the Deer Creek power house was in town on Thursday morning and reported no snow falling there, but a steady downpour of rain.

In a telephone conversation to the local phone office Thursday it was learned six inches of new snow had fallen at Downieville at noon and was still falling.

O. H. Gilbert of Plum Valley Inn, a few miles south of Alleghany was in Nevada City Thursday with plenty of snow on his car. He said it was snowing when he left home and it was also snowing in Alleghany.

Fred Garrison, in charge of this division of the state highway, stated 10 inches of new snow had fallen at Washington Junction. It started falling in the night and two snow plows have been at work clearing the snow all day Thursday. Two feet of snow was on the ground at Sierra City and three snow plows were working on the Donner Summit were reported last evening.

It's a far cry, but Mr. Harry Parsons, of Nevada City, is quoted as saying the radio at noon announced three inches of hail had fallen in Honolulu, an almost unheard of event.

Mr. and Mrs. Acton M. Cleveland motored to Nevada City Monday afternoon called there by illness of relatives.

BOY SCOUTS TO GO TO JAMBOREE AT ROSEVILLE

Horace Curnow, president of the Nevada City Scout Council, yesterday stated that all arrangements had been made for taking the local troop of scouts to the jamboree at Roseville tomorrow, Saturday, afternoon. Twenty five boys have signed up for the trip. They are to meet at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Armory Hall.

They will ride in the Moulton school bus, which the owner has donated for the occasion, te only cost being the expense of gas. Frank Miller, the driver, has also donated his services. Mr. Curnow expressed his deep appreciation, and that of the Scout Council, for these generous services. Frank Wright, scoutmaster, who has won the whole hearted support of his troop, reports that the attendance of all scouts who could possibly get away for the event, is assured.

Parents and others interested in scouting, who can find time and have means of conveyance, are cordially invited to attend.

SERA WORKERS ARE ASSIGNED TO PROJECTS

DON'T WEAKEN THE STATE UNIVERSITY

(By RAY LYMAN WILBUR)
(President of Stanford University)

The State of California stands in imminent danger of damaging irreparably its splendid State University and its whole system of higher education unless the taxpayers protest vigorously and unless the better judgment of our State Legislators prevails.

Legislation is proposed for an extension, beyond the junior college period, of higher education at public expense at a number of centers in the State. The State teachers colleges are rendering good service of a distinctly professional character, but any legislation making them regional universities would lead to costly and needless duplication of facilities in higher education in California.

The University of California is a great institution and it urgently needs all of the resourres the State can provide for higher education. Its strength must not be diluted, either in instruction or research, by weak but costly duplication of its proper work elsewhere.

During the 1933 session of the Legislature I expressed myself strongly against similar plans and I am gratified that this stand is confirmed by the recent unanimous findings of the State Council on Educational Planning and Co-ordination, appointed under authority of the State Legislature. To permit the proposed unwarranted expansions would be to overturn much of the valuable work of this Council. Such action would not only prove a heavy blow to effective higher education in California but would prevent the State from getting the full benefit of the heavy expenditures vitally necessary at the present time.

FRENCH CORRAL, Feb. 28—I went out to Peardale Saturday night recently to one of the Old Time Club dances and I don't know when I've had such a good time.

A stern but friendly night watchman was on duty in the courtyard and instructed us how to park opr car in the neatly arranged lines of automobiles that had arrived earlier.

A beaming doorman accepted the admittance fee from the gentlemen of our party and in return pinned a bit of red ribbon on their coat lapels. We hung our wraps on nails along the walls and then seated ourselves on the long benches that completely encircle the hall.

Promptly at nine o'clock the music struck up a lively fox trot and the crowd surged out upon the floor, Around and around they went laughing, clowning, flirting and love-making—all according to age and inclination. The piano player humped his back over the keys until his hair fell down over his eyes and he had to keep tossing it back with a shake of his head so that he might see. The banjo player's fingers flew up and down the neck of his instrument while he kept one eye on the leader and the other on the dancers. His amiable, smiling face plainly showed that he was thrilling to every beat of the music. And the violin player is a born orchestra leader. When his bow wasn't drawing out tantalizing tunes from the fiddle it was doing a mode of performance in the air to help keep everyone laughing and happy.

Between dances the kids played tag or skated gleefully across the floor but respectfully drew back on the side lines when the old folks went through the intricate mazes of the square dances. And as you very well know, the orchestra came down good and heavy on "turkey-in-the straw."

I didn't know a soul outside of my own party when I went in but after an hour I knew that the crowd was composed of just "plain folks" and then I realized I knew everyone there. For here Big Brother isn't too snobbish to dance with "Mom" and "Dad" follows his sixteen year old daughter around claiming all the waltzes.

I can blame the Depression for a million dreadful things and I can also thank it, too, for taking the false pride and meanness out of us and leveling us down to plain everyday "folks." Perhaps if it continues the old fireside circle will be re-established. In that case you may look for yours truly in a lace cap and shawl demurely knitting on a sock for somebody's grand-dad or looking over the top of my spectacles at a recipe for dandelion cordial.

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS DR. TULLY KNOLES SPEAK

On the topic "Are We Isolated?" Dr. Tully Knoles in his address under the auspices of the Woman's Civic Club Monday night, proved pretty conclusively that we are not and have not been isolated. He began his talk with a resume of the expansion of the United States from the beginning of the union to the present day. He showed how by various ways and means in pursuit of her "manifest destiny" the United States had acquired territory until now it had expanded from the original thirteen states to sea-to-ea nation and also included Alaska, the Philippines, Hawaiian Islands, Virgin Islands, Porto Rica and Panama Canal Zone. Our interests in the civics, economics and peace of these countries and our activities in protecting our nationals in other countries has prevented our being isolated. The open door policy for China, of John Hays influenced the world policy toward China.

The musical program which preceded the lecture was greatly enjoyed by all. The violin solos given by Mr. Thomas R. Caldwell were beautifulyy interpreted and executed. Mrs. Grace Raymond of Grass Valley who accompanied him on the piano was especially sensitive as an accompanist. Mrs. P. R. Bonner beautifully rendered several solos and was accompanied by Miss Minnie Brand.

An unusually large audience enjoyed the musical program and the address of Dr. Knoles.

Good Eyes need Good Light
Impaired Sight demands it

GOOD EYES are a very precious possession. Of all the senses—seeing is the very last thing anyone would wish to damage.

Once damaged, eyes can never be repaired or replaced. We can only help them by wearing glasses prescribed by an eye specialist. But even then, the best of glasses cannot completely restore the full healthy vision of eyes damaged by abuse.

Most good eyesight becomes poor eyesight because good eyes are abused by straining to see in bad light.

It is so easy today to have good lighting. Electricity is plentiful and low in cost. And modern lamps are scientifically designed to give proper diffusion of light without harmful glare.

Below is pictured a lamp of scientifically correct design. Note its modern features. Compare it with the lamps you are using in your home. You should have at least one of these lamps in your living room and on the children's study table.

"THE DRUNKARD" SHOWS AT NEVADA THEATRE IN MIDNITE SHOW, TONIGHT

"The Man On The Flying Trapeze" to go back into history, was a popular success just about the time that the famous P. T. Barnum first produced "The Drunkard" at Barnum's Museum on the Bowery in New York. It is an odd coincidence that both song and play have struck immense popularity so many years after their first introduction.

The management of the touring company now presenting "The Drunkard" of the Fallen Saved which is to be seen here at the Nevada Theatre on March 1st, Midnight, make a feature of the song, "The Man On The Flying Trapeze" during the vaudeville Olio which follows the play. Bedecked in all the trappings of his gymnastic art, the man on the trapeze puts his number over with great gusto. In fact it is one of the outstanding features of the show which offers many hits, ranging from melodramatic scenes to stunt dancing and comedy song numbers.

"The Drunkard" or the Fallen Saved will be presented here in all its panoply of fifteen scenes. The costuming has been made historically correct and to modern audiences and this in itself is a laughter provoking treat. The amusing little bonnets, the bustles of the women, the highly colored clothing of the men is indeed an eyeful. The scenic background is not the least attractive portion of the production of "The Drunkard."

The villian pursues the heroine into her humble but safe abode. Nothing daunted, he follows her into the woods only to find the hero close upon his heels. Again he makes dire threats about the mortgage to the "proud and haughty beauty." Next he is found gloating over the John Barleycorn results upon the hero and brought to his knees, as this same villian all but wrecks the happy little family.

This may all seem rather dark and dismal to the theatre-goers of today but between hisses, smiles and cheers the play is staged in a hurricane of enthusiasm. At least twenty of the famous old song hits are introduced during the performance of "The Drunkard."

SAN JUAN RIDGE

(By Frank Miller)

SAN JUAN RIDGE, Feb. 28—The good old ridge has once again become a beautiful spot with the trees in bloom and a background of green hillsides. The SERA crew are brushing out the Sebastapol road and doing a nice job of it. Bill Porter, of Birchville has been very busy the last few days plowing up a few acres of land for cultivation and we all hope that there will be plenty of water for Bill and a few hundred more such thrifty citizens in the near future. Aunt Kate Sullivan of French Corral is home again after a couple of weeks illness during which time she was at the Nevada City Sanitarium. Kind of lonesome on this ridge without our Aunt Kate and we hope to have her with us for many a year to come.

The dance at San Juan on Saturday evening, March 2, should be a big success in as much as it is for the benefit of the San Juan school, which needs new black boards and numerous other things, including a new additional room. So let's all go and give the kids what we can; also some lovely cakes are being donated by the ladies and allow us to say that the ladies of San Juan Ridge know how to make "cakes like mother used to make." Tex and Bud with their banjo and accordion will furnish the music.

CCC Boys are putting up a telephone line for the forestry service. Rice's Crossing Bridge is gradually taking shape and we hope to be able to drive across the bridge before long if only to see what is on the other side of the Yuba River.

When the crew finish at Rice's, let us hope they linger long enough to build a new bridge at Bridgeport also.

Mrs. Nellie Uhrig of San Juan has been confined to her home for the past week with a very bad cold.

NORTH STAR ACTIVITIES

The foundation is being built for the 500-horsepower electric motor at the North Star mine at the southern limits of Grass Valley, which will be installed for operation of the hoist in about two weeks according to Fred W. Nobs, superintendent of the Empire-Star Mines Company. The present hoist is operated by compressed air.

It is also understood work has started on the sinking of 200 more feet on the 8,600 foot deep shaft of the North Star Mine, plans for which were made some time ago.

The Empire-North Star Mines Company controls the Empire, North Star, Pennsylvania, Preston Hill in the Grass Valley area and the Murchie east of Nevada City.

She returns home much inmproved in health.

Sinking has progressed from the 1200 foot level in the Central shaft of the Lava Cap almost to the 1400 foot level in the projected plan of development. The company is now employing 140 men and the mill is crushing about 200 tons of ore per day.

LEGISLATIVE LETTER
by Graham Berry

(By WNU Service)

It looks as if the budget has been drawn up so that the burden of increased taxes will fall upon the same class of citizenry that has borne the brunt of the taxes and troubles of this country since the nation first climbed out of the cradle in 1776.

For want of a better term, this group is the great middle class, consisting of the professions and skilled labor. Despite the fact that the depression hit this group especially hard, several finance authorities at Sacramento believe that they, because of their stability and unwillingness to seek loopholes through which to escape tax payments, are the safest group to tax. Their revenue can be counted on.

Walter E. Hettman has pointed out that the state income tax proposal, a levy which ostensibly should gain most of its revenue from the wealthy, in reality will be more of a drain on the middle class. So much of wealthy people's money is invested in tax-exempt bonds. The poor will be exempt from the tax because their yearly incomes will fall below the lowest amount from which income levies are collected.

A great many bills for the relief of the poor in mortgage morotoriums, SERA relief and state and government rehabalitation loans will be enacted. In the sales tax the wealthy are apt to be less hard hit because they buy goods in such large quantities that the maximum they pay for the levy is 2½ per cent. The middle and poorer classes often make only 15 to 25 cent purchases. For each such purchase the sales tax is collected, the per cent rising from 2½ to as high as 6½.

I have been told by John W. Howe of the State Department of Public Works that this column erred recently in a statement concerning the proposed one cent increase in gas tax. The tax was said to be a part of Governor Merriam's road consolidation plan—which it is not.

Pocketbook Considered

The taxpayer may rest assured that not all the proposals made at the last legislative session were aimed at ripping the very lining out of his pocketbook. In addition to Governor Merriam's proposed saving of $16,000,000 through his road consolidation program, many bills have been introduced which would relieve the strain on the pursestrings of hard-pressed taxpayers and mortgage and trust deed debtors.

The emergency moratorium bill on mortgages and trust deeds which was dramatically rushed through at the last minute before recess will no doubt be extended in the March session. Measures have been introduced which would extend the moratorium until the reconvening of the legislature in 1937.

There are many bills proposing exemption from attachment of radios, washing machines, autos, trucks, typewriters, all electrical appliances and personal property up to $300.

The installment plan has proved so successful in business that certain legislators would adope the method for transacting state business, at least as far as paying taxes is concerned. There are bills pending which would allow payments of all taxes on installments. One would allow the payments to be made at the taxpayer's convenience, another provides that they be made in monthly installments and yet another calls for quarterly payments.

The hard-pressed home owner would be aided in another series of bills enabling him to borrow from the state. Extension of state home and farm purchase aid to citizens along the line of the aid now given to war veterans has also been proposed. Another measure provides that real estate, pledged by a mortgage or trust deed, would be assessed for taxation at its value, less the amount of the obligation.

A senate bill would continue in force the 5 per cent state and local budget increase limitations.

Under an assembly bill, state highway funds would be used to meet outstanding special assessments against home owners for roadway or park improvements. This is one of a large group of bills seeking special assessment relief.

Institution Legislation

California's penal and insane institutions are due for some major reorganizing, judging from bills awaiting legislative attention. Publicity given to recent prison breaks and investigations made by the new director of institutions, Harry Lutgens, of the insane hospital situation have aroused public interest in favor of increasing the number of both insane and penal institutions in this state.

In his budget, Governor Merriam proposes two important expenditure increases, one of $1,156,141.69 and another of $3,356,388. The first sum has been proposed for "increased operating expenses of our state institutions and prisons due to an increase in the number of the state's wards and higher prices of staple commodities."

The governor considers the additional prison allotment as almost a fixed charge, "since there is no means of controlling the number of individuals committed to our state institutions."

As for the construction of additional insane hospitals, the state executive points out that these institutions are badly overcrowded, at present housing 32.12 per cent more than their capacity, but that his apportionment will not so much relieve this condition as it will provide for expected increases.

An outstanding feature of the many bills pertaining to crime is that legislators would increase penalties for many criminal acts and would increase the difficulties in obtaining paroles. Other measures propose new state prisons, still others would form boards and commissions for administration of the increasing penal institution responsibilities.

Assemblyman Charles Y. Lyon, Los Angeles County, has introduced AB 1701 which would consolidate the state's law enforcing groups under one department, to be known as the public safety department. Its six divisions would include the state highway patrol, the state police, the division of motor vehicle registration, the division of criminal identification, the division of paroles and licenses for detectives and the narcotic enforcement bureau.

All collections of motor vehicle registrations would be turned over to the safety fund, according to this bill. This money now goes for road purposes.

Then there are measures which would enable state police officers to patrol all districts not adequately taken care of by local authorities. Still other bills would facilitate the apprehension of criminals.

Pertaining to this last item, SB 735 and 736 would set up a uniform criminal extradition act and authorize the governor to enter into compacts with adjoining states under which peace officers could cross state borders in pursuit of criminals and return them for trial without the formality of extradition.

The governor is much interested in preventing California from becoming a "crime center." To forestall any possibilities of this and to aid all the western states in their fight to stamp out crime, Merriam has invited the governors of the western states to meet with him March 18-19 for a conference. Following a consultation with California law-enforcement heads, he has drawn up a program for consideration at this meeting.

Among the proposals which will be discussed, Merriam would establish compacts between states covering various aspects of pursuit of criminals and crime suppression. He would have the states adopt uniform and model codes of criminal procedure, and he believes that steps should be taken to assure effective and harmonious cooperation between the federal government and the states in all matters involving national or interstate criminal activities.

Among the important bills establishing new prisons and regulating the affairs of penal institutions are:

AB 216—Provides for a southern California prison for first offenders.

SB 216 and 217—Calls for a new state prison and authorizes the state to accept federal financial assistance.

As to increasing penalties, AB 309 declares that transporting arms into prisons to facilitate escape be punishable by death. In another bill, capital punishment would be abolished, being replaced by life imprisonment without parole.

Another important measure would sterilize convicts and mental hospital inmates whose offspring "would have a tendency to serious physical or mental disease or mental deficiency."

SB 616—Would create a series of highway prison camps to relieve crowded prisons and help in road maintenance.

Director Lutgens' probes into the insane hospital situation reveals a real need for new buildings. There has been a large increase in the number of inmates during the last four years, due chiefly to physical and mental breakdowns recsulting from the depression.

One encouraging feature, found Lutgens, was that at the Patton mental hospital 85 per cent of the patients have been discharged as cured or temporarily recovered from insanity.

Politics Hit

The gubernatorial campaign which culminated last November is reflected in the load of bills proposing changes in elections and the present political setup.

Several measures demand complete public reports of campaign expenditures. Others will attempt to give California a new Corrupt Practices Act which would prescribe prison sentences for intimidation of voters, falsification of campaign fund reports and unauthorized corporation activities in political campaigns.

Companies or company agents would be forbidden from making direct campaign contributions. A candidate for governor would be limited to $10,000 for campaign expenses.

Any persons guilty of the above corrupt practices would be subject to a $1000 fine or five years in prison, or both. The same penalties are to apply to persons making campaign contributions without the candidate's knowledge or consent.

There are four bills which would make the legislature nonpartisan instead of being elected and acting along party lines. SB 105 would leave the governor, lieutenant-governor and the legislature partisan but make all other governmental jobs nonpartisan.

No doubt the last election gave rise legislation seeking to bar radical political parties from the ballot, and also AB 2284 which says that no candidate can run for an office on more than one political party's ticket.

As to changes in the legislative setup, SCA 6 would consolidate the senate and assembly into one house of 100 members, chosen for four-year terms with representation on a population basis.

Another bill would increase the terms of assemblymen from two to four years and senators from four to six years.

ACA 5 proposes an annual instead of a biennial legislative session.

Potato Soup for Six

Boil three cups of water, two sliced potatoes, one chopped onion together until the potatoes are done. With the water they are boiled in, put through a sieve. Add a tablespoonful butter, salt and pepper to this. Just before serving add one-half cup sweet cream or canned milk.

Cheese and Egg Soup

(Very nourishing for children.)

Bring three tablespoons oilve oil or butter and three cups of water to a boil. Mix two well beaten eggs and three tablespoons grated cheese and season with salt and pepper. Put this into a hot bowl and stir the boiling water and butter mixture into it. Do not cook after mixing but serve at once.

NEVADA THEATRE SHOWS 'JEALOUSY' AND 'ROMANCE IN MANHATTAN' 'SUNDAY

In "Romance in Manhattan" which plays Sunday at the Nevada Theatre, Hollywood has sent to the screen a beautifully acted drama of bitter-sweet romance, touching pathos and the struggles and the dreams of two of New York's six-millions who face life's eternal problems a bit afraid but with sunny optimism. It is a picture that must appeal to all ages and all castes because of its vivid human theme and its stirring, lifting spirit of courage highlighted with episodes of delightful humor.

Francis Lederer and Ginger Rogers play the young lovers whose romance eventually blossoms despite tremendous odds. Their acting is delightfully fresh, natural and touched with the skillful brush of genius. Never has Lederer, the dashing Continental matinee idol, been more convincing and fascinating than as the ambitious, joyous immigrant to whom even the slums of America are translated into beauty by his own radiant spirit.

DEDUCTIONS FOR DEPLETION IN INCOME TAX

(By ALICE MOORE,)
(Public Accountant)

Mine and timber owners are entitled to a depletion deduction in compuaing taxable income. This deduction may be calculated by mine owners on either an actual or percentage basis, but the 1934 act provides that the taxpayer must elect in his 1934 return which method he prefers.

Depletion is the gradual diminution of the original quantity of minerals and other natural resources which takes place when any of them are removed from their natural position or native state. This diminution represents, of course, a decrease in the capital wealth to the owner, so that returns from a mine are partly a return of capital invested and only partly profit.

The calculation of the actual depletion suffered in any one year is a fairly complicated and rather uncertain process, involving the ratio which the tonnage or other measurement removed bears to the total quantity of ore, etc. estimated to have been in place at the beginning of the year.

Percentage depletion, besides being simpler to calculate, is of particular interest in that the aggregate amount of depletion taken is not limited to the amount of capital insted. This is a special concession to coal, metal and sulphur mine owners who discover or develop in their properties greater values than were known to exist at the time of purchase.

The amount of depletion deduction allowed metal mines is 15 per cent of the gross income for the taxable year, exclusive of rents or royalties. Such allowance, however, shall not exceed 50 per cent of the net income.

BIRTHDAY AND REUNION PARTY

A family reunion and birthday party was held last Sunday at the Worsley home on Sylvia Ave., near the municipal park for Mrs. Mae Hemsath. Mrs. Hemsath is housekeeper in the Worsley home. Her children surprised her on her birthday, bringing a big birthday cake with them. The cake was made by one daughter, the frosting by another and the fancy decorations by another daughter. LOT PURCHASED BY ANGELINI AND CICOGNI

In recent weeks Messrs. Angelini and Cicogni of the Sacramento street grocery, purchased a corner lot at the junction of Main street and Union alley, from the late E. T. Leiter, the sale being made through his son, Charles Leiter, of the Nevada City Garage.

Workmen are removing a large poplar tree at the back of the lot, on Union Alley this week and the new owners will probably start building a store on the property this spring. This is a fine business location and the new owners are to be complimented in making this selection.

JEALOUSY

Her beauty fanned the flames of jealousy in the hearts of two men who loved her! One tried to win the love which she gave so freely to another — and their three lives were almost ruined by the spectre of suspicion!

This dramatic theme receives a poignant treatment in Columbia's "Jealousy," which shows Saturday at the Nevada Theatre with Nancy Carroll, George Murphy and Donald Cook in the principal roles.

One moment of jealousy—and a lifetime of anguish—lived in ten seconds! Briefly, the story concerns the dramatic consequences resulting from a prizefighter's suspicion that his wife is unfaithful! An exciting blend of romance, comedy and pathos makes up the film.

Judge J. M. McMahon of Downieville attended the Native Sons home coming in Nevada City Tuesday evening.
